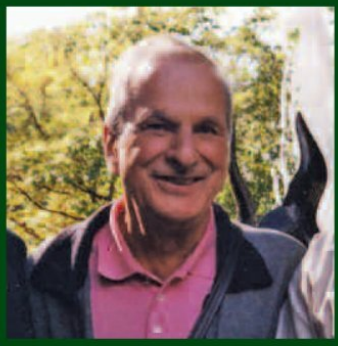
IN MEMORY

The Milwaukee Bucks organization dedicates the 2007-08 Media Guide to the memory of Dr. Conrad Heinzelmann, team physician and medical advisor from 1969 to 2002, and physician emeritus from 2002 until his passing on June 30, 2007.

PHYSICIAN GAVE BUCKS QUALITY CARE

by Bobbi Roquemore | The Milwaukee Journal Sentinel | July 6, 2007



Regardless of whether the Milwaukee Bucks player in need of assistance was named Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Ray Allen or Anthony Avent, the level of service he received from team physician Conrad Heinzelmann was first-rate.

That was how Heinzelmann conducted himself as the team physician and medical adviser throughout 33 seasons, which included an NBA championship, 13 division titles and nearly two dozen playoff appearances.

Heinzelmann died June 30 at age 79.

Bucks owner Senator Herb Kohl recalled Heinzelmann on Thursday as "a unique physician" with a sincere interest in each player, coach and staff member who graced the organization.

"Dr. Heinzelmann served the Milwaukee Bucks organization with outstanding medical expertise, care and concern as team physician for 33 seasons," Kohl said of Heinzelmann, who worked for the Bucks from 1970-2002. "He served both all-stars and journeymen, rookies and veterans alike, all with impeccable attention to detail and true concern for their well-being."

Yet Heinzelmann's achievements in medicine go far beyond his time with the Milwaukee Bucks.

A graduate of Marquette Medical School, Heinzelmann was also a staff member at Elmbrook Memorial and chief of surgery at Milwaukee Lutheran Hospital, as well as a member of the Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Medical Society and past member of Professional Team Physicians.

He once taught special education in California and also served in the Coast Guard.

Heinzelmann's style and passion for practicing medicine defined his career.

"He had a special, thorough, calming manner of communicating that evoked the trust of his patients," Kohl added.

After retiring from the Bucks in 2002, Heinzelmann became the team's "medical adviser emeritus."

Conrad is survived by Virginia, his wife of 52 years, and sons Mark Heinzelmann, Eric Heinzelmann and Fred Heinzelmann.

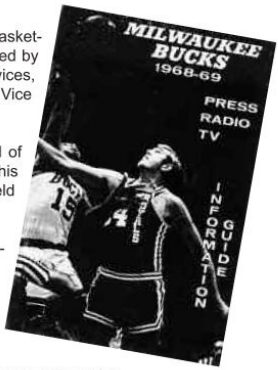
OWNERSHIP HISTORY



The Bucks have had only three primary owners since the very beginning. The National Basketball Association originally awarded the franchise to a Milwaukee group of investors - headed by Wesley D. Pavalon and Marvin L. Fishman - called Milwaukee Professional Sports and Services, Inc. on January 22, 1968. Pavalon and Fishman were named President and Executive Vice President, respectively, as the franchise was incorporated on February 5, 1968.

Jim Fitzgerald, a Janesville, Wisconsin, businessman, served as a member of the Board of Directors of Milwaukee Professional Sports and Service beginning in 1973. He assumed his position as Chairman of the Board and President of the Bucks in November of 1976 and held that position until the sale of the franchise to Herb Kohl in the spring of 1985.

Kohl purchased the team on March 1, 1985, from Fitzgerald, ensuring it would remain in Milwaukee.

For more detailed information on the history of the Milwaukee Bucks, please see page 114.

WHAT THEY SAID ...

Here's what some Milwaukee officials said when it was announced that the city of Milwaukee would receive an NBA franchise. The following quotes ran in the Milwaukee Journal on January 22, 1968 in a story entitled "Everybody Happy About NBA Team":

"The NBA's decision illustrates once again that we are a big league city. We will do everything possible to make the NBA and its stars feel at home in our city."

- Henry W. Maier - Milwaukee Mayor

(Mayor Maier also said that the franchise was a tribute to Milwaukee's citizens, who he said were among the most ardent sports fans in the country and that the city's sports fans had proven their devotion time and time again.)

"I'm happy about it, of course. Anything that will help Milwaukee in the sports field, I'm happy about, because I think Milwaukee is a sports city."

- Eugene H. Grobschmidt - Chairman, County Board

"It is especially gratifying because it marks the city as a major league metropolitan area in this important sport. The addition of this sports activity will contribute to promoting a favorable image for Milwaukee in the sports world and will have far-reaching economic benefits. We congratulate the local individuals involved in obtaining the franchise."

- Van W. Coddington - President, Metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce
- John Duncan - Executive Vice President, Metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce

THE FIRST COACH

Before they even had a nickname, Milwaukee's new NBA franchise had a coach. On April 3, 1968, the team announced it had hired Larry Costello to take the reigns of the new team, which was to begin their first regular season that October. The following is an excerpt from an article written in the Milwaukee Journal by Bob Wolf entitled "Good Old Fashioned Pro, Costello Thinks Modern" (April 4, 1968):

Larry Costello may have been a bit old fashioned as a player with his two-handed set shot, but he intends to be strictly up to date as coach of the new Milwaukee team in the National Basketball Association.

After his appointment was announced Wednesday, the 11-year NBA veteran said, "I want to do things that have never been done in the NBA. We'll be a fast-breaking, pressing type of team, one that I'm sure the fans will enjoy seeing.

"The zone press is legal in the NBA, even though a straight zone defense isn't, and I plan to use it a good share of the time. I feel that it's a good way to get the most out of the talent you have at your disposal.

"One objective I have in mind is team play. And I want players who love the game. A lot of them don't, and if you don't love the game, forget it. If I have my choice of a player with lots of desire and only average talent and one with lots of talent and little desire, I'll take the first one every time."

A NEW TICKET IN TOWN

The Bucks set what was then a home attendance record for a first-year team when they averaged 6,246 fans during their inaugural season. They played their first NBA game in front of 8,467 fans and enjoyed their first-ever sellout on February 27, 1968 when 10,746 fans packed the Milwaukee Arena to see the Bucks beat Baltimore for their sixth win in a row.

It wasn't until the 1975-76 season that the Bucks played all of their 41 regular season home games in Milwaukee (at the Milwaukee Arena). Prior to that campaign, they had always played at least three of their regular season contests in Madison.

MILWAUKEE BUCKS

FROM "CAGERS" TO "BUCKS"

From their inception until their new name was officially announced, the new Milwaukee NBA franchise was commonly referred to as a "Pro Cage Team", or more simply, "The Cagers". But on Tuesday, May 21, 1968, the club went from "Cagers" to "Bucks". The following excerpt is from an article written in the Milwaukee Sentinel by Lou Chapman entitled "Bucks: That's Name of City's New Pro Five" (May 22, 1968):

> Milwaukee's new professional basketball club finally received a name Tuesday - the Bucks. Forty-five persons came up with that monicker in a statewide contest, but R.D. Trebilcox had the winning reason for his selection. His reward is a spanking new Javelin car.
> Contest entries totaled 14,000, said John Erickson, general manager of Milwaukee's NBA franchise, who made the announcement.
>
> Erickson explained that contestants were asked to rank five reasons supplied by the sponsors as to why they chose the name they selected and then give a sixth reason of their own.
>
> Trebilcox, as well as four others who submitted the name of the Bucks, rated the reasons in the same order as did the sponsors. The reasons were as follows:
>
> 1) Fits the Wisconsin image. 2) Fits the sport of basketball. 3) Adapts to promotional use. 4) Unique in not being similar to any other names. 5) Modern and up-to-date.
>
> Contestants were to supply the sixth reason. In the final selection, the judges used that one as "the determining factor in selecting the winner," Erickson noted.
>
> For his reason, Trebilcox said that "Bucks are spirited, good jumpers, fast and agile. These are exceptional qualities for basketball players."
>
> Contestants leaned to animals in trying for the jackpot. Roughly 6,000 to 7,000 names submitted were in that category, said Erickson. Among the names were Skunks, Beavers, Stags, Hornets, Stallions, Ponies and Badgers.

POPULATION & SIZE

With a population of nearly 600,000, Milwaukee is the 22nd largest city in the U.S. The four-county metropolitan area (Milwaukee, Ozaukee, Washington and Waukesha counties) has a population of 1.5 million. The City of Milwaukee covers approximately 96 square miles.

LOCATION

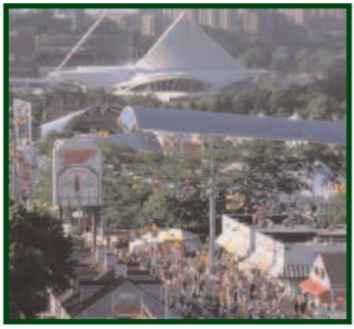
Milwaukee is positioned in the center of the Midwest, in the southeast corner of Wisconsin, on Lake Michigan's western shore. Milwaukee's prime location offers benefits for business and for daily living. Global shipping lanes are readily accessible via the Great Lakes and the Mississippi River.

CLIMATE

Milwaukee has four very distinct seasons. Lake Michigan cools the city in the warm months and moderates cold temperatures in the winter. Average temperatures are 78 degrees (Farenheit) in the summer, 59 degrees in the autumn, 29 degrees in the winter, and 53 degrees in the spring. Milwaukee receives about 33 inches of precipitation annually, including 47 inches of snow.

WHAT DOES MILWAUKEE MEAN?

Long before the first settlers came to this area, the Algonkian Indians had a special name for the land: Millioki, which means "gathering place by the waters." The Indians may have picked the name because they used the area for tribal gatherings or because they observed how three rivers (the Menomonee, the Kinnickinnic and the Milwaukee) met before flowing into the waters of Lake Mie-sit-gan (Michigan).



CITY OF FESTIVALS ...

Milwaukee celebrates its melting pot heritage throughout the year with a delightful procession of ethnic and cultural festivals. Asian Moon Festival, Rainbow Summer, Polish Fest, RiverSplash!, Lakefront Festival of Arts, Bavarian VolksFest, Bastille Days, Festa Italiana, German Fest, African World Festival, PrideFest, Irish Fest, Mexican Fiesta, Labor Fest, Oktoberfest, Indian Summer Festival, Arab World Fest and the Holiday Folk Fair are all colorful tributes to a cherished past. Summerfest is the world's largest music festival according to the Guiness Book of World Records. The eleven-day festival features a variety of music from national headline acts to up-and-comers on 12 different stages.

BRADLEY CENTER

1001 North Fourth Street
Milwaukee, WI 53203
(414) 227-0500

Home sweet home… that's how the 2007-08 Milwaukee Bucks refer to the Bradley Center for the 20th straight season! As it enters its 20th Anniversary season, the Center is still considered one of the finest arenas in the country. The 20,000-seat sports and entertainment facility opened on October 1, 1988. The $91 million structure was a gift to the Milwaukee community and State of Wisconsin from the late Jane Bradley Pettit and her husband, Lloyd, in honor of her father, Harry Lynde Bradley. Mr. Bradley was one of the founders of the Allen-Bradley Co., a national manufacturer of electrical controls headquartered in Milwaukee (now a subsidiary of Rockwell International).

Located in downtown Milwaukee, the Bradley Center covers more than one square city block and rises to a height of 13 stories. The exterior is clad in polished and flame-treated granite, with the same materiel used in the pedestals for the columns in the twin glass-enclosed, 60-foot-high signature atriums.

The Center is extraordinarily fan-friendly, with wide, open concourses, multiple concessions and merchandise locations, and 28 large restrooms. The arena provides three levels of fan seating accommodations, including the private suite concourse, which is located just 30 feet above floor level while still allowing for over 7,200 fans to remain below.

Club Cambria, at Bradley Center Suites, is Milwaukee's most unique sports experience. This club, located on the north end of the suite level, provides the ultimate setting for interacting with guests and enjoying Bucks basketball while indulging in the style and comfort of this private environment.

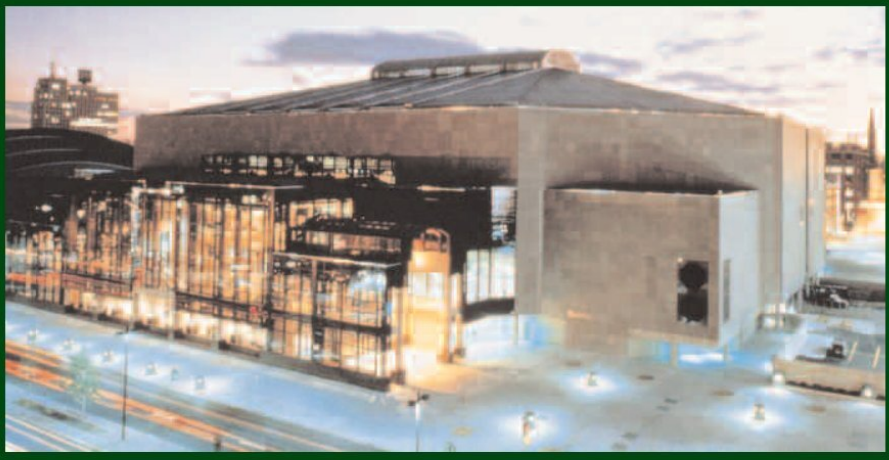
Courtside Club offers the ultimate in quality service in a relaxing atmosphere, amidst the thrills of NBA action! Courtside Club Lounge including a bar, lounge area with flat screen TVs and restrooms, private coat check and more. Courtside Club members also benefit from in-seat food and beverage service as they enjoy the game.

Behind the scenes, the latest in computerized and electronic equipment controls the security, communications systems and interior environment for the facility. State-of-the-art electronics and interior circuitry assist the media in covering events at the Bradley Center. As many as four television stations are able to telecast simultaneously from any of three locations in the arena. In addition, members of the media may transmit as well as receive information within the building though multiple sources.

In addition to the Milwaukee Bucks, the Bradley Center is also home to the Marquette University Men's Basketball team and the Milwaukee Admirals professional hockey team. The Center regularly hosts a variety of other extraordinary entertainment events including concerts, figure skating and family shows.

The Bradley Center was designed by Hellmuth, Obata & Kassabaum of Kansas City, Missouri, and Venture Architects, which was a joint venture between the Milwaukee architectural firms of Kahler Slater, Torphy Architects and the Zimmerman Design Group.

FOR DIRECTIONS AND MAPS, SEE PAGE 293.



ACCOMODATIONS FOR THE DISABLED

Each Bradley Center entrance is equipped with an electronic door opener operated by a touch pad.

Parking for guests with mobility limitations may be found in the Bradley Center parking structure at Sixth Street and Highland Avenue. These spaces are located on the first and third levels. Doors may be operated by electronic touch pads.

Oversized vehicles (more than 6'9" in height) with "disabled" license plates or stickers may park in designated spaces located north of Lobby A (access via Fourth Street). All guests using these spaces to park are required to follow the instructions of Bradley Center Parking Services personnel.

Two of the four Bradley Center Ticket Office windows open for daily sales are equipped with a "pass through" drawer system that is wheelchair accessible. Bradley Center Ticket Office hours are 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday; 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Saturday; and two hours prior to game times on Sunday. Non-season hours vary.

The Bradley Center Administrative Office is equipped with a TDD (Telecommunications Device for the Deaf). Call (414) 227-0445 to receive event information or to place a ticket order.

16 platforms, located throughout the Bradley Center, accommodate wheelchairs and folding chairs, which allow patrons with mobility limitations and guests to sit together. Accessible seats, located next to these platforms, are also available on a limited basis. Tickets for most events are available at the Bradley Center box office.

Short-term parking is available at the northeast corner of the Bradley Center's property (Fourth Street, north of Highland Avenue) for the purchase of tickets during regular business hours. Only the spaces parallel to Fourth Street with signage indicating this purpose are available for use.

All concession stands have counter space accessible for wheelchair approach.

Women's and Men's restrooms are located at all four corners of both the 200 and 400 Levels of the building. All 28 restrooms have wheelchair accessible facilities. Couples requiring a "co-ed" lavatory may request use of the First Aid Room restroom, located at the north end of the 200 Level.

All drinking fountains are wheelchair accessible. Drinking fountains are located on the concourse outside each restroom.

Limited wheelchair transport service to and from entrances to seating can be made available. If you would like this service, please call (414) 227-0797 to make advance arrangements.

Elevators for guests with mobility limitations are located in both the Inner East and Inner West lobbies. Both elevators travel to all floors of the building and are staffed with operators during events. Controls are wheelchair accessible.

All telephones are wheelchair accessible. Public telephones are located at all four corners of both the 200 and 400 Levels, as well as the lobbies.

FOR THE HEARING AND VISUALLY IMPAIRED:

Bucks fans attending home game in the Bradley Center are able to listen to game broadcasts of Ted Davis, the "Voice of the Milwaukee Bucks", on their personal radios. The Bradley Center, in an effort to aide hearing and visually impaired patrons, installed a radio transmitter in the building at the outset of the 1993-94 season. While the system was designed to aid the hearing and visually impaired, all fans can enjoy the benefit. Any patron bringing an FM radio and tuning to 105.1 FM will be able to listen to the entire broadcast of the game from their seat. Programming on the frequency begins approximately one hour prior to each home game.

The Bradley Center also has a number of portable "beltpack" AM/FM radios and headsets as well as teleloops available at the Administration Office located on the north side of the outer east atrium near Gate A. Teleloops are collar-like devices that plug into radios and allow hearing impaired patrons with a "T" coil or "T" switch on their hearing aids to receive the signal in their hearing aids without removing them.

In order for a patron to check out a radio at the Bradley Center Administration Office, a valid driver's license is required for deposit.

TRAINING CENTER

3501 South Lake Drive
Milwaukee, WI 53207

In September of 1997, the Milwaukee Bucks went state-of-the-art when they moved their basketball operations into a 35,000 square-foot wing of the Archbishop Cousins Center in St. Francis, WI.

The Milwaukee Bucks Training Center, designed by Schroeder and Holt Architects, provides the team with a first-class, year-round facility dedicated to the athletic enhancement of Bucks players. Construction, improvements and equipment were completed at a cost of nearly $3 million. In 10 years since, continued upgrades have made the facility one of the finest in the NBA.

The gym features a running and spring track, which encircles a regulation 94' x 50' basketball floor, with six additional baskets to accommodate shooting drills. Just off the court are spacious locker room and training room facilities, a recreation lounge, a hydrotherapy room and a 42' x 36' weight and conditioning room. The Bucks also have access to a full-length swimming pool that is adjacent to their headquarters.

The building also houses a video editing system, meeting rooms and office space for the player personnel and public relations departments, as well as the entire Bucks coaching staff.

In the summer of 2006, the facility experienced a major makeover that coincided with the team's new logo and colors. The makeover was highlighted with the completion of a new practice court that mirrors the design the team uses for games at the Bradley Center.

Young people continue to admire professional athletes. And because youth are so impressionable, a considerable portion of the team's efforts are dedicated to tomorrow's leaders.

It is with dedication and determination that the organization participates in numerous charitable and philanthropic endeavors. As highly visible members of the community, the Bucks players, coaches and front office staff acknowledge and accept their unique role in society and are pledged to improve the community's welfare through their expertise, energy, effort and dollars.

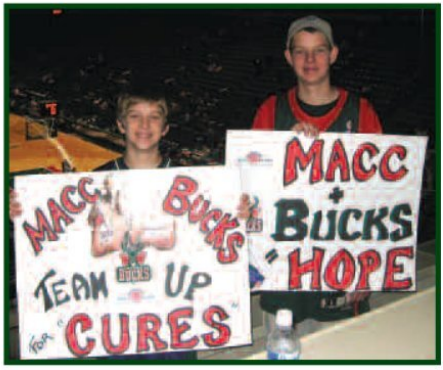
COMMUNITY PROGRAMS

THE MACC FUND TRADITION



The Bucks host the Annual MACC Fund game each October, a preseason game at the Bradley Center. This event is the cornerstone of the Bucks 31-year, year-round commitment to the MACC (Midwest Athletes Against Childhood Cancer) Fund. The Bucks and the MACC Fund also host a Halloween Hoopla Family Party prior to the game. Activities at the party include costume contests, games, pumpkin carving and a petting zoo. The Bucks have raised more than $1,000,000 for cancer research since the inaugural MACC Fund game in 1977, the first major event to benefit the fund. The MACC Fund supports pediatric cancer research at The Midwest Children's Cancer Center at Milwaukee Children's Hospital.

The Milwaukee Bucks played a major role in the creation of the MACC Fund in 1976. The Bucks radio announcer at that time, Eddie Doucette, had a son Brett who was diagnosed with cancer in 1974. Jon McGlocklin, "the Original Buck" was retiring from the Bucks. Jon and Eddie decided to create a fund to support research to help children like Brett who had cancer. The MACC Fund, Milwaukee Athletes Against Childhood Cancer (later changed to Midwest Athletes) was founded during a halftime ceremony of a Bucks game at the Milwaukee Arena on December 10, 1976. Brett Doucette, the MACC Fund's "first success story" is married and living in Arizona. The Bucks have sponsored an annual preseason game to benefit the MACC Fund since 1977 in addition to sponsoring numerous other fund-raising opportunities for the MACC Fund. The Bucks MACC Fund Games alone have raised over $1.2 million. Senator Kohl and the Bucks also contributed an additional $100,000 on the occasion of the MACC Fund's 10th Anniversary in 1986.

The MACC Fund supports pediatric cancer and related blood disorder research such as sickle cell disease and aplastic anemia in Wisconsin. This research impacts children throughout the United States as well as globally. The Milwaukee Bucks have been a pillar of support for the MACC Fund since its inception. The MACC Fund has contributed $28 million to research at the Medical College of Wisconsin's Midwest Children's Cancer Center as well as the University of Wisconsin's Paul Carbone Comprehensive Cancer Center. Long term commitments take that number to $32 million.

The six-story, 141,000 square foot MACC Fund Research Center houses the The Midwest Children's Cancer Center. This research has led to the largest number of successful non-related bone marrow transplants in the country which are done at Children's Hospital of Wisconsin. This hospital was rated as the nation's ninth best children's hospital by the 2007 Child magazine. In 2005, it also boasted the best rate of success for one year after bone marrow transplant. MACC Fund support has led to some exciting advances in sickle cell disease and aplastic anemia as well becoming one of the nation's leaders. The MACC Fund Pediatric Cancer Research Wing will open in 2008 at the University of Wisconsin's Carbone Cancer Center. This 14,000 square foot wing will provide the latest in research at one of the nation's premier comprehensive cancer centers. The MACC Fund has played an important role at both Centers while helping raise the overall cure rate for childhood cancer from 20% to 80% over the past 30 years. The Bucks have played a pivotal role in this "Gift of Hope" during each of those years.

HERB KOHL EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION AWARD PROGRAM

The Herb Kohl Educational Excellence Scholarship and Fellowship Award programs were established in January of 1990.

Excellence Scholarships Awarded to date: $1,800,000 to 1,800 students

Excellence Scholarships in the amount of $1,000 are awarded each year to 100 graduating high school students. Selection of scholarship recipients begins at the local level, with the number of nominations from each high school based on enrollment. The names of local nominees are sent to regional selection panels composed of teachers, administrators, civic leaders and community representatives. Final selection is made by a statewide committee composed of civic leaders, representatives from the Wisconsin Council of Religious and Independent Schools, Wisconsin Newspaper Association, Cooperative Educational Service Agencies, Wisconsin Parents Association and several other education-related associations. Scholarship recipients are chosen for their demonstrated academic potential, outstanding leadership, citizenship, community service, integrity and other special talents.

Fellowship Awards Awarded to date: $3,600,000 to 1,800 teachers and their schools

Fellowships in the amount of $1,000 are awarded each year to 100 Wisconsin teachers. Each fellow's school also receives a $1,000 grant. Anyone may nominate a teacher for the Kohl Fellowship. The educator nomination screening process begins within each public school district or non-public school organization. Further screening takes place at the regional level, and the statewide selection committee chooses the award recipients. Educators are chosen for their superior ability to inspire a love of learning in their students and to motivate others, as well as their leadership and service within and outside the classroom.

Initiative Scholarships Awarded to date: $950,000 to 950 students

The Herb Kohl Initiative Scholarship was established in October of 1997. Initiative Scholarships in the amount of $1,000 are awarded each year to 85 graduating high school students. FRONT OFFICE

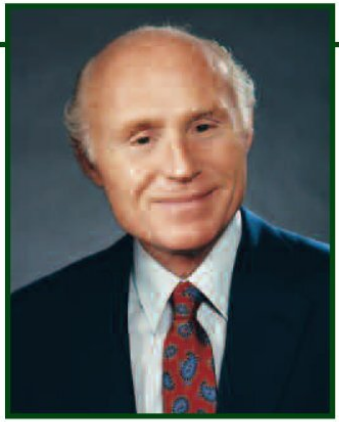
T OFFIC



HERB KOHL

PRESIDENT

Public servant, philanthropist, businessman and professional sports team owner. All four accurately describe Herb Kohl, who begins his 23rd season as president and owner of the Milwaukee Bucks organization. Kohl purchased the team on March 1, 1985 from Jim Fitzgerald, ensuring it would remain in Milwaukee.

"From the very beginning, my association with the Bucks has been a wonderful experience," Kohl remarked. "Wherever I go, people come up to me and talk about the team. The opportunity I was given to purchase and to keep the team here in Milwaukee is one of the most unique and fortunate experiences I've ever enjoyed."

A Milwaukee native who grew up in the Sherman Park neighborhood, Kohl has maintained a lifetime commitment to his home city and state. He attended Sherman Elementary School and Milwaukee Washington High School. A 1956 graduate of the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Kohl was a roommate with childhood friend and current Commissioner of Major League Baseball Bud Selig. He went on to earn a Master's degree from the Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration in 1958. Kohl served in the Army Reserve from 1958-64.

From 1959-69, Kohl served in many capacities with the then family-owned Kohl Corporation, operators of grocery and department stores. His parents had built their first Kohl's Food Market in the late '20s, and from that inauspicious beginning, grew the business into one of the Midwest's leading grocery and department store chains. Kohl was president from 1970 through the sale of the corporation by the family in 1979, and the Kohl's Department Stores have now expanded throughout the United States.

After years of involvement in public affairs in Wisconsin, having served as general chairman of Milwaukee's United Way campaign and state chairman of the Wisconsin Democratic Party, Kohl decided to run for the United States Senate seat vacated by William Proxmire. He was elected to a six-year term as Wisconsin's 25th United States Senator in 1988, re-elected in November of 1994, in November of 2000, and again in November of 2006. Kohl serves on three committees in the Senate: the Appropriations Committee - chairman of the Agriculture Appropriations Subcommittee; the Judiciary Committee - chairman of the Antitrust, Competition Policy and Consumer Rights Subcommittee; and the Special Committee on Aging, chairman.

Involved in a vast array of community-minded projects, Kohl has consistently championed the cause of education. He established the Herb Kohl Educational Foundation Excellence Scholarship and Fellowship Award Program in 1990, as well as the Initiative Scholarship Program in 1997. As of September, 2007, the Herb Kohl Educational Foundation has awarded a total of $6.35 million to Wisconsin educators, students and schools. Annually, the grants total $385,000 and are presented to 185 graduating high school students, 100 teachers and 100 schools throughout Wisconsin.

With a life-long interest in sports, Kohl was one of 10 original investors in the Milwaukee Brewers, and he also initiated negotiations with then NBA commissioner Walter Kennedy, which ultimately led to the granting of a franchise in January of 1968 to a group of Milwaukee investors.

Kohl's interest in sports does not stop at the professional level. In April of 1995, Kohl donated $25 million to his alma mater to help provide a state-of-the-art new home for the Badgers. January of 2008 will mark the 10th Anniversary of the opening of the Kohl Center, a sports arena that is home of the University of Wisconsin-Madison men's and women's basketball teams, as well as the men's hockey team.

"I was very happy to be in a position to help build a first-rate, state-of-the-art sports arena," said Kohl. "I think it cements the university's reputation as one of the premier athletic programs in the Big Ten and the country."

Recognized for his many efforts, Kohl has received numerous awards from throughout the state of Wisconsin, including: an Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree from Ripon College in 1999; Best Corporate Citizen of 1997 by Madison Magazine; the "Kiwanis Milwaukee Award" in 1987; an Honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Cardinal Stritch College of Milwaukee in 1986; the Greater Milwaukee Convention and Visitors Bureau "Lamplighter Award" in 1986; named "Humanitarian of the Year" in 1986 by the Wisconsin Parkinson Association; "Wisconsin Sports Personality of the Year" in 1985 by the Milwaukee Pen and Mike Club; and the "Joe Killeen Memorial Sportsman of the Year" in 1985 by the Wisconsin Broadcasters Association.

BANGO - BUCKS MASCOT

For 29 years now, Bango has been energizing and entertaining Bucks fans with his high flying dunks, acrobatic moves, and crazy shenanigans. This wild Buck is a crowd favorite for all fans young and old, and is gearing up for this season with a whole new bag of tricks to bring joy and excitement to the Bucks games. Bango is also a fixture in the Milwaukee community doing close to 200 appearances throughout the city. On top of all of the fun he has in Milwaukee with parades, school visits, and other great events, Bango is also a world traveler entertaining in numerous cities across the states, and recently performing for thousands and thousands of basketball fans in China. The Milwaukee Buck loves extreme sports, dodging hunters in orange vests, and Milwaukee Bucks Basketball!

Bango was a phrase coined by Eddie Doucette, the original "Voice of the Bucks." When the club held a contest to name their new mascot, a few thousand entries were received. The most popular of which was Bango. Sherry Kussman of New Berlin, Wisconsin, won a drawing among seven people who submitted the Bango name. For her entry, Sherry won a pair of season tickets.

With the name in place, on October 18, 1977, Bango was born. The date signified the home opener of the 1977-78 season for the Bucks. The game pitted Milwaukee against the Kareem Abdul-Jabbar-led Los Angeles Lakers in the Milwaukee Arena.

For more information on how to book Bango for your event, call the Game Operations Department at 414-227-0500.

SEASON NOTES

- The Bucks finished with the 2006-07 campaign with a sub .500 winning percentage. Their final record of 28-54 included an 18-23 record at the Bradley Center and a 10-31 record on the road. The 2006-07 season marks the first time the Bucks lost 23 games at home since the 1995-96 season (14-27). Their 54 losses were the most by a Bucks team since the 1995-96 team went 25-57.

- The 2006-07 season was one plagued by injuries for the Bucks. In total, Bucks players missed 234 games (3rd most in the NBA behind Boston & Portland) due to injury or illness. All five players in Milwaukee's projected opening day starting line-up missed at least 13 games or more due to injury. Milwaukee's injury/illness total was up from the 109 games missed in 2005-06.

- Michael Redd's 1,416 points over 53 games this season resulted in a 26.7 scoring average (5th in the NBA). Redd's 26.7 scoring average was also the highest for a Buck since Kareem Abdul-Jabbar averaged 30.0 points per game (1974-75). Redd also set a career high and broke a franchise record when he scored 57 points against Utah (11/11), a record previously held by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (55 on 12/10/71). Redd also scored 52 points on 3/4/07 against the Bulls. After the 06-07 season, Redd moved into 10th place on the Bucks all-time scoring list with 8,964 points.

- Andrew Bogut had a fine sophomore season, averaging 12.3 points, 8.8 rebounds (led team) and 3.0 assists in 34.2 minutes per game. He led the team in FG% with a 55.3% mark (7th in the NBA) and in double-doubles with 19. Bogut also had his first career 20/20 game (20 points, 24 rebounds) at Philadelphia on 1/12. It was the first 20/20 game for a Buck since Dan Gadzuric had 21 points and 20 rebounds on 4/18/05.

- Mo Williams led the Bucks in assists 47 times this season. He averaged career-highs in points (17.3), rebounds (4.8) and assists (6.1). Williams led the team and ranked 14th in the NBA in assists per game. He also became the first Buck to average at least 17.0 points and 6.0 assists in 50 games or more since Sam Cassell did it during the 2002-03 season. Williams also posted his first career triple-double on 12/20/06 against the Heat. He logged 19 points and 10 assists to go along with a career-high 11 boards. It was the first triple-double for a Buck since Charlie Bell posted one against Phoenix on 3/28/06.

- On the season, Milwaukee finished with a scoring average of 99.7 points per game, good for 10th in the NBA. They also finished 9th in the league in FG% (.465) and 13th in 3FG% (.356).

- December proved to be Milwaukee's best month of the season. The Bucks finished the month 11-6, going 7-0 at the Bradley Center. As a team, the Bucks averaged 107.6 points per game to their opponents' 98.9, shot 48.9% from the field to their opponents' 46.4% and grabbed 40.1 rebounds to their opponents' 36.7. Milwaukee's 7-0 mark at home was their longest home winning streak since the 2003-04 season (10 games). Michael Redd and Mo Williams both received Eastern Conference Player of the Week honors in December. Redd won it twice (for the week of 11/23 to 12/3 and again for the week of 12/25 to 1/1) while Williams accepted his honor for the week of 12/18 to 12/24.

- After winning in Detroit on opening night, the Bucks lost their next 15 games against division opponents. That is the longest losing streak the Bucks have ever had against teams from their own division.

- The Bucks used 20 different starting line-ups during the 06-07 season. That is double from the 10 line-ups Milwaukee used during the 2005-06 season. The starting five that produced the most wins for the Bucks consisted of Mo Williams, Michael Redd, Charlie Bell, Brian Skinner and Andrew Bogut (11-10).

- Charlie Bell finished the 2006-07 season as the only Buck to play in every game. He appeared in all 82 contests and started 64 of them.

40/40-FACTS

#8

When Michael Redd scored a franchise-record 57 points on November 11, 2006 against Utah, he became just the second player in team history to score 50 points in a single game. His 52 points against Chicago on March 4, 2007 gave him two 50-point games for the season and for his career. The previous single-game scoring record for a Buck was held by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (55 points on December 10, 1971 against Boston). Abdul-Jabbar scored 50 or more points 10 times as a Buck.

KEY DATES FROM THE 2006-07 SEASON

November 1 - Michael Redd scores 37 points and Charlie Villanueva makes his Bucks debut with a 16-point, 12-rebound double-double as the Bucks win in Detroit (105-97) to start the season 1-0. The win snaps a 6-game losing skid by the Bucks in Detroit, dating back to the 2003-04 season.

Ersan Ilyasova also becomes the youngest player in Bucks history to appear in a game (19 years, 5 months, 17 days).

November 4 - Michael Redd (26), Charlie Villanueva (25) and Andrew Bogut (21) all score 20+ as the Bucks win their home opener for the 4th straight season, beating the Kings by a final of 104-91.

November 11 - Michael Redd sets a new career- and franchise-high for points in a game, scoring 57 at home in a 111-113 loss to the Utah Jazz. Having scored just 15 points in the 1st half, Redd explodes for 42 points in the 2nd half, including 25 in the 4th quarter. He shoots 18-32 from the field, including 6-12 from three-point range and 15-17 from the free throw line. It's the first time in team history that a player outscored the rest of his team.

Redd's offensive outburst helps erase a 24-point Utah lead. His final three points come by way of a game-tying three-pointer with just 6.9 seconds to play. But Utah's Matt Harpring scores a quick lay-up on the other end to lift the Jazz to victory.

November 28 - The Bucks beat the Lakers in Los Angeles for the first time since 2000-01. Michael Redd scores 45 points, the most in a road game by a Buck since Ricky Pierce had the same amount in Sacramento on 12/5/89.

December 4 - Michael Redd is named the NBA Eastern Conference Player of the Week for games played November 27 through December 3. Redd averaged 35.3 points and 6.0 rebounds while helping lead the Bucks to a 2-1 record.

December 20 - Mo Williams logs his first career triple-double in a 121-95 win over the visiting Miami Heat. He registers 19 points, 11 rebounds and 10 assists in just under 37 minutes of play. It's the first triple-double for a Buck since Charlie Bell logged 19 points, 10 rebounds and 13 assists on 3/28/06 against Phoenix.

December 26 - Mo Williams is named the NBA Eastern Conference Player of the Week for games played December 18 through December 24. Williams averaged 25.7 points, 8.7 rebounds and 6.7 assists in helping the Bucks to a 3-0 record that week.

December 27 - With their 112-96 win in Memphis, the Bucks extend their winning streak to six games. The six game run is their longest of the season. Ruben Patterson tallies a season-high 30 points.

December 30 - The Bucks cap off a perfect month at home (7-0) with a 119-102 win over the Washington Wizards. It's their first perfect month at home since they went 5-0 in April, 2002.

January 2 - Michael Redd is named the NBA Eastern Conference Player of the Week for games played December 25 through January 1. It's the second time this season that Redd has received the honor. Redd averaged 27.0 points, 5.3 rebounds and 3.0 assists in helping the Bucks to a 3-1 record that week.

January 8 - The Bucks announce that Michael Redd would miss 4-6 weeks of action due to a left patellar tendon strain (which he injured on January 5 against Cleveland). The injury would keep Redd out until after the All-Star break. The Bucks struggled without their scoring leader, going 3-17 in 20 games without Redd.

January 11 - The Bucks acquire Earl Boykins, Julius Hodge and cash considerations from Denver in exchange for Steve Blake.

January 13 - Milwaukee's game against the New Orleans/Oklahoma City Hornets is postponed due to icy weather in Oklahoma that prevents the Hornets from flying to Milwaukee. The game is rescheduled for Tuesday, April 3.

January 15 - In his 2nd game with the Bucks, Earl Boykins scores a then-season-high 30 points in a 99-91 win at Charlotte.

January 24 - Earl Boykins scores a career-high 36 points in a 106-114 loss at Sacramento. He becomes the shortest player in NBA history (5-5) to score that many points in a single game.

February 3 - Mo Williams scores a career-high 38 points and makes a career-high 16 FG in Milwaukee's 98-117 loss in Miami.

March 14 - The Bucks announce that Terry Stotts has been relieved of his coaching duties. Later that day, the team promotes assistant coach Larry Krystkowiak, signing him to a multi-year contract and making him the 10th head coach in team history.

March 15 - Larry Krystkowiak earns his first win as an NBA head coach, guiding the Bucks to a 101-90 win over the San Antonio Spurs. The win snapped a 13-game winning streak by the Spurs.

March 4 - Michael Redd (52) and Chicago's Ben Gordon (48) combine to score 100 points in a 126-121 overtime win by the visiting Bulls. Gordon's hot shooting helps Chicago erase an 18-point, 4th-quarter deficit. It's Redd's 2nd 50-point game of the season.

April 6 - Earl Boykins ties his career-high with 36 points (10-16 FG, 4-7 3FG, 12-13 FT) in a 102-115 loss at Atlanta. He also finishes the game with 9 assists. Milwaukee's loss officially eliminates them from the 2006-07 playoff race.

April 18 - The Bucks lose in Cleveland by a final of 96-109 and finish the season 28-54.

40/40-FACTS #9

In addition to Milwaukee, the Bucks used to play a few of their regular season home games in Madison. They even played a regular season game in Green Bay during their inaugural year.

Milwaukee didn't play a full 41-game home schedule in Milwaukee until the 1975-76 season. Prior to that campaign, they had always played at least 3 regular season games in Madison.

The Bucks also played 7 home playoff games in Madison during the early 1970's.

40/40-FACTS #10

Lucky 13? The Bucks could see their 13th million fan at the Bradley Center this season. 12,337,203 Bucks fans have passed through the BC's turnstiles since Milwaukee began playing there in 1988. If the team matches its attendance from last season (663,629), the 13 millionth fan would be in attendance at the team's final home game of the 2007-08 season.

40/40-FACTS #13

The Bucks may not hold the NBA record for the longest winning streak, but they did play a part in the current mark. The Los Angeles Lakers ran off an NBA-record 33 straight wins from November 5, 1971 to January 7, 1972. The team that beat them in that 34th game? The Milwaukee Bucks. The Bucks topped the Lakers in Milwaukee on January 9, 1972 by a final of 120-104. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led the Bucks that night with 39 points. The win improved Milwaukee's record to 36-8 and they would finish the season with a 63-19 mark.

40/40-FACTS #16

Milwaukee's biggest postseason win ever - a 50-point win on April 4, 1971 - came on the heels of one of their only two losses during that championship run. Up three games to none, they fell in San Francisco on April 1 by just two points, despite 32 points from Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. The Bucks responded by coming back home (the game was played in Madison) and closing the series out with a 136-86 win over the Warriors in front of 12,868 fans.

HISTORY

HISTORY

As the Milwaukee Bucks professional basketball team enters its 40th season, owner Herb Kohl celebrates his 23rd season as President of the 10th winningest franchise in NBA history (seventh winningest among current franchises). Kohl purchased the team on March 1, 1985, from Jim Fitzgerald, ensuring it would remain in Milwaukee.

The National Basketball Association originally awarded the franchise to a Milwaukee group of investors - headed by Wesley D. Pavalon and Marvin L. Fishman - called Milwaukee Professional Sports and Services, Inc. on January 22, 1968. Pavalon and Fishman were named President and Executive Vice President, respectively, as the franchise was incorporated on February 5, 1968.

An application from Milwaukee Pro was registered with the Wisconsin Department of Securities for the sale of 300,000 shares of common stock to Wisconsin residents at $5 per share. Because the issue caught public fancy, an additional 125,000 shares were offered when the stock opened on the over-the-counter market on April 24, 1968.

On the basketball side of the operation, the team went through both the college and expansion draft under the watchful eye of the team's first head coach, Larry Costello.

A Janesville, Wisconsin, businessman, Jim Fitzgerald served as a member of the Board of Directors of Milwaukee Professional Sports and Service beginning in 1973. He assumed his position as Chairman of the Board and President of the Bucks in November of 1976 and held that position until the sale of the franchise to Kohl in the spring of 1985.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

May 22, 1968 was the day when Milwaukee's second professional basketball team finally got a name - the Milwaukee Bucks. More than 14,000 fans participated in a contest to name the team. Records show that R.D. Trebilcox of Whitefish Bay, Wisconsin, was one of 45 persons who suggested the name 'Bucks'. He saw bucks as being spirited, good jumpers, fast and agile. For his efforts in helping Milwaukee's entry into the professional sports world gain an enduring nickname, Mr. Trebilcox won a new car.

LOGO/COLOR HISTORY

On June 28, 2006, prior to the 2006-07 season, the Bucks unveiled an updated logo and a new color scheme. "The historical Bucks forest green and the silver introduced in 1993 remain in the identity, but purple has been replaced by a deep red - more sophisticated than the classic red used in the Bucks' color palette from 1968 through the mid-80's," Vice President of NBA Apparel Christopher Arena said. "The deep red is in line with the team's history and representative of their renewed commitment to intensity and energy."

The basic structure of Milwaukee's primary logo that was introduced in 1993 remains in the identity, but several areas have been enhanced. The wordmark "BUCKS" now includes a more rigid, etched font with a retaining shape that mirrors the structure of the letters. The box that outlines the word "BUCKS" has been altered, as well. A "MILWAUKEE" wordmark, although not used in the primary logo, was created and will be used on various team materials and licensed products.

"We listened very closely to fan feedback and talked with our players. We also consulted heavily with key management, the NBA's creative staff, and the league licensees to arrive at our new identity," Bucks General Manager Larry Harris said. "We're thrilled with the outcome. Forest green has been a staple of our color scheme throughout team history, and we were able to couple that with two other recognizable colors from the past - a striking version of red and the silver from our previous logo."

The logo was first introduced in May of 1993 when, following the 25th Anniversary season, the club announced that their franchise would be represented by a new logo with corresponding new uniforms. It depicts an aggressive, frontal view of the head and shoulders of an eight-point white tail buck (male deer) on a triangular background atop stylized Milwaukee Bucks lettering. The color scheme featured hunter green, purple and silver. In making the announcement of the new logo, then-NBA Creative Director Tom O'Grady said, "The Bucks logo is an image of strength and focused determination. The solid logo design, incorporating the powerful Buck, portrays a confident, cohesive team. It is one unit, an attribute of any good team. The Buck itself gazes steadily ahead, as if to accept any challenge that may lie in its path. The theme of solidarity is repeated upon through the physique of the muscular buck and the heavy block lettering."

The 2006-07 changes also were applied to the team's secondary logo, which was first introduced during the 2001 Playoffs. The secondary logo is a derivative of the primary logo. It retains the existing red triangular base and eight-point silver buck antlers, while adding a silver-outlined green basketball that appears centered at the top of the triangular base.

A search for the team's initial logo/color identity in 1968 was the responsibility of then-General Manager John Erickson, who commissioned Milwaukee commercial artist Matt Kastelic to develop the team's first logo. The original logo featured a caricature of a buck wearing a sweater emblazoned with the letter 'B' and spinning a basketball on one hoof while sitting atop the words 'Milwaukee Bucks'.

The original official team colors of forest green, red and white were in use since their inception in 1968 through the 1976-77 season. From the 1976 through 1985 seasons, the club adopted various hues of green, including forest, kelly and lime, with a white accent. The changes in color did not affect the logo.

FAMOUS FIRSTS IN BUCKS HISTORY

First Draft Choice

In the 1968 Draft, the Bucks selected Charlie Paulk of Northeastern University in the first round (seventh overall).

First Game

On October 16, 1968, the Bucks hosted the Chicago Bulls, dropping an 89-84 decision in front of a Milwaukee Arena crowd of 8,467. Starting for the Bucks were Guy Rodgers, Jon McGlocklin, Fred Hetzel, Len Chappell and Wayne Embry. McGlocklin scored the first points in team history, draining a jump shot just 13 seconds in to the contest. Rodgers led the Bucks with 16 points.

First Win

After dropping their first five games of the inaugural season, the Bucks claimed victory on October 31, 1968, a 134-118 decision over the Detroit Pistons at the Arena. Wayne Embry led the Bucks in scoring with 30 points, and became the first player in Bucks history to score 30-plus in a single game.

First NBA Championship

No expansion team in pro sports history earned a championship quicker than the Bucks, who captured the 1971 NBA title in just their third season of existence. The 1970-71 Bucks posted a 66-16 regular-season mark under Coach Larry Costello. In the postseason, they beat San Francisco (4-1) and the Los Angeles Lakers (4-1) before sweeping Baltimore in four straight for the title.

First Bradley Center Game

In front of a sellout crowd of 18,649 on November 5, 1988, the Bucks dropped a 107-94 decision to the Atlanta Hawks. Terry Cummings led the Bucks with 19 points.

First Bradley Center Win

In their second home game in their new home, on November 9, 1988, the Bucks topped Philadelphia 114-103 behind 31 points from Terry Cummings.

#1 - OSCAR ROBERTSON

On April 21, 1970, Flynn Robinson and Charlie Paulk were dealt to the Cincinnati Royals. In exchange, the Bucks received Oscar Robertson, an All-Star in each of his 10 seasons in Cincinnati, who still had plenty of fuel left in his tank at the age of 31.

The player to whom other great "all-around" players are compared, Robertson joined Kareem Abdul-Jabbar to immediately form one of the most formidable inside-outside duos in NBA history. The NBA's first "big" point guard at 6-5, Robertson averaged 19.4 ppg, 5.7 rpg and 8.2 apg in his first season in Milwaukee, exhibiting the versatility that led to nine All-NBA First Teams in Cincinnati.

The Bucks won 66 games and advanced to the NBA Finals against Baltimore. For only the second time in NBA history, the Finals ended in a 4-0 sweep, and The Big O finally had the NBA championship that had eluded him in Cincinnati. Robertson averaged 18.3 ppg in Milwaukee's 12-2 postseason.

Robertson played three more seasons with the Bucks, and the team never won fewer than 59 games. In 1973-74, the last of his 14 NBA seasons, Oscar again led the Bucks to the Finals. In a memorable seven-game series against the Boston Celtics, the Bucks came up one game short of clinching their second NBA Championship.

Robertson retired after having led Milwaukee to a 248-80 record in four seasons. Robertson, the only Buck to wear the #1, had his jersey retired on October 18, 1974.

#2 - JUNIOR BRIDGEMAN

When Junior Bridgeman joined the Bucks, Milwaukee was coming off of a 38-44 season in which they failed to make the playoffs. When he left nine seasons later, the Bucks were Eastern Conference Finalists with four straight divisional championships to their credit.

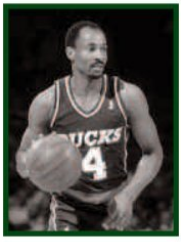
J.B, acquired from the Lakers with Brian Winters in the trade that sent Kareem Abdul-Jabbar to Los Angeles, easily found his niche as the Bucks "Super Sub." He started only 105 of the 711 games he played in a Bucks uniform, but Bridgeman scored in double figures for eight straight seasons, consistently appearing atop the list of the league's highest scoring non-starters.

He was the league's top scoring sixth man in 1978-79, averaging 15.5 ppg, but he was just warming up. He averaged 17.6 ppg in the 1979-80 season, and 16.8 ppg the following year as the Bucks reached the 60-win plateau for the fourth time in their history. In nine seasons, he hit double figures eight times.

His tenure with the Bucks appeared to be over when he was traded (with Marques Johnson and Harvey Catchings) to the LA Clippers for Terry Cummings, Ricky Pierce and Craig Hodges on Sept. 29, 1984. In 1987, after two seasons with the Clippers, Bridgeman re-signed with the Bucks in January of 1987, assisting the Bucks on their way to a seventh consecutive 50-win season.

When all was said and done, Bridgeman had played more games than any player in Bucks history (711), a record he still holds. In addition, he is among the Bucks all-time leaders in scoring (6th, 9,892) and minutes (7th, 18,044), and also among the Bucks all-time leaders in steals (T-9th, 607), field goals made (5th, 4,142) and attempted (4th, 8,658), and free throw percentage (10th, .840).

His #2 was retired on January 17, 1988.



#4 - SIDNEY MONCRIEF

Sidney Moncrief was simply Milwaukee's Mr. Everything for a decade that produced 523 wins, seven division championships and prompted the building of a new arena to accommodate the legions of Bucks fans.

During the '80s, the most prolific decade in Bucks history, Moncrief was front man for a team that won 50 games for seven consecutive seasons and appeared in the playoffs in each of his 10 seasons (1979-89).

Moncrief, the fifth overall selection in the 1979 NBA Draft, quickly showed Milwaukee fans that he could do it all – shooting, posting, slashing, passing, rebounding and defending were all in his arsenal.

A five-time All-Star, Moncrief compiled 16.7 points per game in 10 seasons in Milwaukee. He also averaged 5.0 rebounds, 3.9 assists, 1.26 steals and finished with a career shooting percentage of better than 50 percent. But as proficient as Moncrief was at the offensive end, surely he was better known for his relentless defense. Moncrief earned four straight berths on the NBA's All-Defensive First Team (1982-86) and was the first recipient of the NBA's Defensive Player of the Year honor in 1983.

Moncrief, once called "the most beloved athlete in the history of Arkansas", owns a similar spot in the hearts and minds of Bucks fans. His #4 was raised to the rafters on January 6, 1990, at the Bradley Center. Among the seven Bucks whose numbers hang in the rafters, Moncrief is the only one who played in the facility.

To this day, only Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Glenn Robinson have scored more points in a Milwaukee uniform than Sir Sid, who scored 11,594 points as a Buck.

#14 - JON MCGLOCKLIN

If it has happened in the 39-year history of the Bucks, Jonny Mac was there to see it. An original member of the team, he remains a fixture in the organization, having spent the last 31 seasons as a team broadcaster.

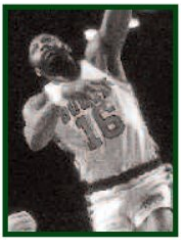
A 6-5 guard from Indiana University, McGlocklin enjoyed an an 11-year NBA odyssey that included eight seasons – not to mention an All-Star Appearance and an NBA Championship – in Milwaukee.

After two seasons in Cincinnati and one in San Diego, McGlocklin was selected by the Bucks in the 1968 expansion draft. He was the leading scorer on the inagural Bucks team (19.6 ppg) and became the first player to represent the Bucks in an All-Star Game.

In 1970-71, he was the starting shooting guard on the storied Bucks team that won 66 games and stormed through a 12-2 postseason en route to a World Championship. McGlocklin shot 53.6 percent in those 14 games, and averaged 14.9 ppg.

After the championship season, McGlocklin logged five more years in a Bucks uniform. He retired after the 1975-76 season having appeared in 595 games for the Bucks – a total surpassed by only three other players. In eight seasons, he averaged 12.6 ppg for Milwaukee.

McGlocklin's name still graces the Bucks All-Time Leaders list in points (12th, 7,505), minutes (9th, 17,008), field goals made (10th, 3,315) and free throw percentage (6th, .860). On December 10, 1976, Jonny Mac's #14 was raised to rafters. He is the only Buck ever to have worn that number, and the only one who ever will.



#16 - BOB LANIER

Bob Lanier was an NBA legend long before he put on a Bucks uniform, but five seasons with the Bucks – and five division championships – cemented his place as one of the best players in NBA history.

In 9+ seasons in Detroit, Lanier became the Pistons' all-time leader in scoring average (22.7 ppg) and ranked second in points (15,488) and rebounds (8,063). But when the Pistons were suffering through the worst season in their history, their leading man was granted a trade, and Milwaukee was the beneficiary, acquiring Lanier for Kent Benson and a first-round pick on Feb. 4, 1980.

Lanier provided veteran leadership to a team that would average 53 wins during his four-plus seasons. He provided scoring (13.5), rebounding (5.9) and leadership on the court, including a willingness to endure the pain of worsening knees. Lanier was a leader off the court as well, serving as the President of the NBA Players Association during the end of his playing tenure.

The Bucks amassed divisional titles in each of Lanier's five seasons. Despite his brief tenure, Lanier is ninth on the Bucks postseason scoring list (680 points), tied for sixth in rebounding (342) and tied for third in blocked shots (45). His playoff scoring average of 15.1 is 12th in team history.

Counting his four seasons in Milwaukee, Lanier amassed 19,248 points in 14 years, finishing his career with averages of 20.1 points and 10.1 rebounds per game. He was inducted into the Naismith Hall of Fame in 1991.

Seven years earlier – December 4, 1984 – his #16 was hung from the ceiling of the MECCA.

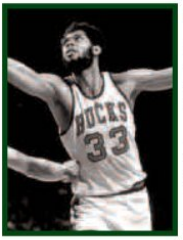
#32 - BRIAN WINTERS

The end of the Kareem Abdul-Jabbar era did have a silver lining for Bucks fans. When "the franchise" requested a move, the Bucks received four players from the Lakers on June 16, 1975, including Juinor Bridgeman and a young All-Rookie shooting guard named Brian Winters.

Winters, an All-America selection in high school and at the University of South Carolina, quickly carved his niche in Bucks history, playing eight seasons for the Bucks and averaging 16.7 points per game. His prodigious numbers would undoubtedly have been even better, but the three-point FG came into existence after he had already played five NBA seasons. For his career, he was 114-of-314 (.363) from downtown. He was also deadly from the free throw line, where he was a career 84.3 percent shooter.

In his first season in Milwaukee, he made the All-Star team, a feat he would achieve again in 1978. In eight seasons, he helped the Bucks achieve six postseason berths. Upon his retirement, Don Nelson called Winters' game intuition 'outstanding,' and said Winters was the type of player 'any coach would welcome.'

Upon retiring in 1983, Winters was the leading playmaker in Bucks history (now 3rd, 2,479 assists). He is still among the Bucks all-time leaders in scoring (7th, 9,743), games played (5th, 582) and steals (5th, 718). The Bucks wasted no time honoring Winters as the third player to have his number retired, raising his #32 on October 28, 1983, at halftime of a 104-83 opening night win over Indiana.



#33 - KAREEM ABDUL-JABBAR

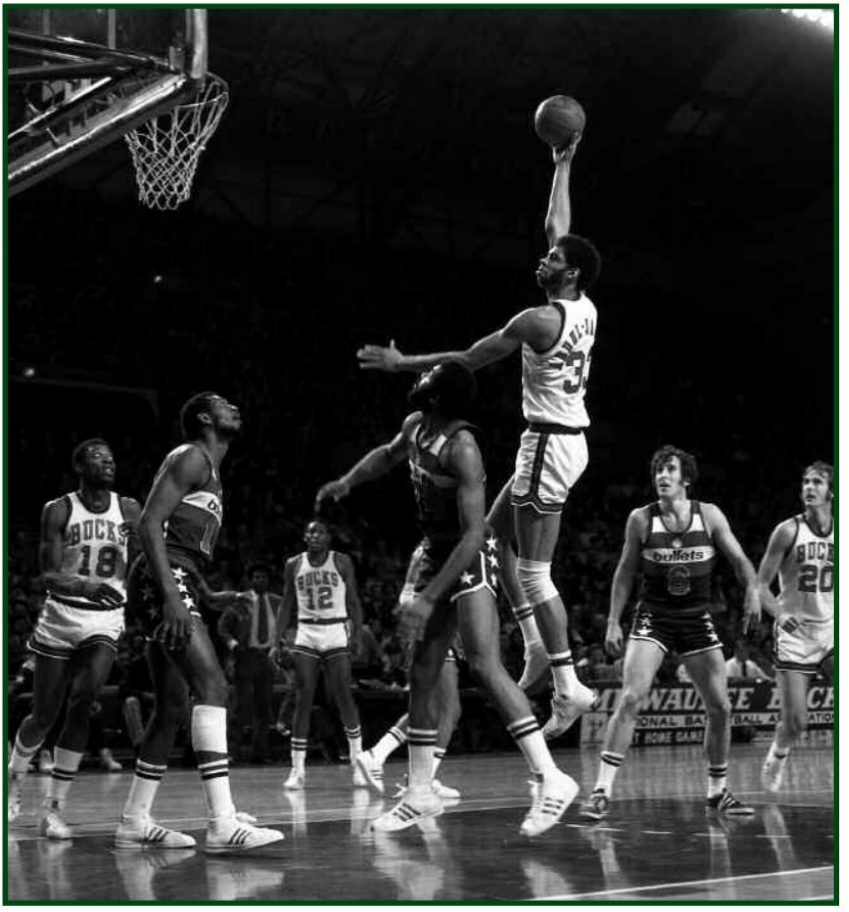
How important was Kareem Abdul-Jabbar to the Milwaukee Bucks? Without him, the Bucks might never have existed at all. Team founders knew that by bringing an NBA franchise to Milwaukee when they did, the intriguing possibility existed that the legendary UCLA star – then known as Lew Alcindor – could be acquired in the NBA Draft after the team's first season.

Sure enough, the expansion Bucks and Suns finished last in their respective conferences, "earning" the right to participate in a coin flip, with Alcindor's rights going to the winner. Phoenix called 'heads,' the coin came up 'tails,' and the rest – including an NBA championship – is history.

Abdul-Jabbar (and his patented 'sky-hook') brought instant success to the Bucks. The first-year phenom earned Rookie of the Year honors in 1969-70, and the Bucks won 56 games. For an encore, Abdul-Jabbar led the Bucks to 66 wins and won the first of three MVP awards with the Bucks in 1970-71, averaging 31.7 ppg and 16.0 rpg. In the playoffs, he helped lead the Bucks to a 12-2 record and their only World Championship.

After only six seasons in Milwaukee, Abdul-Jabbar was (and still is) the leading scorer (14,211) and rebounder (7,161) in team history, and also tops the all-time list in scoring average (30.4 ppg), field goals made (5,902), attempted (10,787) and field goal percentage (.547). His 495 blocks rank fourth on the all-time list, even though the statistic was only kept during his final two seasons with the Bucks.

Abdul-Jabbar, a New York native, eventually longed for a return to big city life and was granted a trade to the Los Angeles Lakers, where he played 14 more seasons before retiring as the leading scorer in NBA history (38,387). He was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1995, and had his number 33 – which was never worn by another Bucks player – retired in a ceremony at the Bradley Center on April 24, 1993.



MEMORABLE MOMENTS IN BUCKS HISTORY

Bucks Post Biggest Comeback In NBA History

The 1977-78 Bucks are recognized as having posted the biggest single-game comeback in NBA history. On November 25, 1977, the Bucks faced the Hawks at the Omni in Atlanta. With 8:43 remaining in the game, Atlanta led by 29 points, 111-82, setting the stage for a most improbable comeback. Milwaukee outscored the Hawks 35-4 over the final stretch, sealing the win with two Marques Johnson free throws with only one second to play in the Bucks 117-115 win. Junior Bridgeman scored 24 points in 26 minutes, hitting 11-of-15 field goals in a win he simply described afterward as "incredible."

Wayne Embry Becomes First African-American General Manager In NBA History

On March 6, 1972, the Milwaukee Bucks named Wayne Embry as their new General Manager, making him the first African-American GM in the history of the NBA. Embry held the post for 7 seasons (1972-79) and has held identical posts with the Cleveland Cavaliers (1986-1999) and with the Toronto Raptors (2006).

Games Delayed/Postponed Due To Weather

January 12, 1982 - Two inches of snow virtually closed Atlanta down. Hazardous driving conditions prevented several Hawks players from reaching the Omni. The game was played March 8, 1982, and the Hawks won 98-95.

March 4, 1985 – Heavy snow and ice tore a portion of the fabric roof of the Silverdome, resulting in snow near and on the court. The game was replayed at Joe Louis Arena on April 7, 1985, much to the dismay of the Bucks, who lost 113-91.

January 8, 1989 – Returning home from a double-overtime win in Washington the night before, the Bucks were re-routed to Grand Rapids, MI., because of heavy fog in Milwaukee. From there, they embarked on a 4-1/2 hour bus ride, arriving at the Bradley Center at 8:00 p.m., the scheduled start time for that night's game with the Utah Jazz. The start was delayed until 9:15 p.m., and the road-weary Bucks scored a surprising 107-89 victory.

January 13, 2007 – Inclement weather in the Oklahoma City area prevented the Hornets (who were then playing their second and final season as the New Orleans/Oklahoma City Hornets) from flying out for their Saturday night game in Milwaukee. The game was played on Tuesday, April 3. The Hornets defeated the Bucks 119-101.

Bucks Set New NBA Record For Most Assists In A Game

The Bucks had their way with the Detroit Pistons defense on December 26, 1978 as they passed for an NBA-record 53 assists on their way to a lopsided 143-84 win. The Bucks had 19 assists in the 2nd quarter, also an NBA record (shared with the San Antonio Spurs who did it on April 15, 1984 against Denver), on their way to 30 first-half dimes. The 59-point win is also the largest margin of victory the Bucks have ever posted.

Michael Redd Sets New NBA Record For 3-Pointers In A Quarter

On February 20, 2002, Michael Redd put on a show for those in attendance at the Bradley Center. In a game against the Houston Rockets, the Bucks took a very comfortable 23-point lead into the fourth quarter. After logging just eight minutes and three points during the first three quarters, Redd exploded during the fourth.

He played all 12 minutes and scored 26 points in the final quarter, helping lead the Bucks to an extremely lopsided 115-76 win. During that period of time, he sank eight of 12 three pointers, setting an new NBA mark for treys in a quarter. He had three from beyond the arc within the first two minutes of the fourth quarter, and sank his fourth three-pointer with 8:44 to go. One minute later, he had his fifth. Then, with 4:21 to go, Redd sank three more to close out the game, including his eighth and final trey with 44 seconds to play.

Redd's other three points came courtesy of a three-pointer in the second quarter, giving him nine in the game (a franchise record for treys in a game at that time).

NOTE: Redd's eight three-pointers in one half is also an NBA record, one that is shared by two former Bucks. Ray Allen performed the feat in the same season as Redd on April 14, 2002 (against the Charlotte Hornets) en route to scoring 10 three-pointers in the game (a new franchise record). Tim Thomas also threw down eight treys in one half on January 5, 2001, against the Portland Trail Blazers. Thomas is the only one of the three to perform the feat on the road.

Bucks Set New NBA Record For 3-Pointers In A Quarter/Half

Milwaukee hit a franchise-record 18 three-pointers in their 132-110 rout of the Phoenix Suns at the Bradley Center on 3/28. The 18 treys topped the previous franchise mark of 16 (dont twice, most recently on 12/9/02 at Cleveland in double-overtime). They also set a new NBA record after hitting 11 of those 18 triples in the 3rd quarter. The previous record for threes in a quarter was 10. The bucks hit 14 threes in the 2nd half, also a new NBA record (previous record was 12).

Bucks Set New NBA Record For Fewest Turnovers In A Game

Milwaukee set a new NBA record for fewest turnovers in a game on 4/1/06 against Indiana. They're two turnovers beat out the old mark of three (set by seven teams, most recently by Toronto on 12/27/05). The team turned the ball over twice in the first half and zero times in the second half. Milwaukee's previous franchise record for fewest turnovers in a game was four, set on 3/2/03 vs. Atlanta.

40/40-FACTS #17

Did you know that the Bucks have played back-to-back-to-back overtime games on two separate occasions? They did so from February 24-26-28, 1978 and from December 26-27-30, 1997. Such an occurence has happened only 15 times in NBA history!

- Abdul-Jabbar finishes third in the NBA in scoring (30 ppg), fifth in rebounds (14.0 rpg) and first in blocks (3.26 bpg). Dandridge finishes 18th in scoring with a 19.9 ppg average.
- After the season, on June 16, 1975, Abdul-Jabbar and Walt Wesley are dealt to the Los Angeles Lakers in exchange for Elmore Smith, Brian Winters, David Meyers, Junior Bridgeman and future considerations.

HIGHLIGHTS:

- Prior to the season, the Bucks host the inaugural McDonald's Basketball Open, which also featured the Soviet National Basketball team and the reigning European champions, Tracer Milan of Italy.
- Milwaukee records its ninth straight winning season and 15th in the storied 20-year history.
- The Bucks finish the season with an awesome 992-648 (.605%) all-time record, bettered only by the Boston Celtics.
- The 1987-88 season saw the curtain close on an incredibly successful run in the Arena, as the Bucks prepared to move into the Bradley Center.
- On 12/4/87, the Bucks snap Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's string of 787 double figure scoring games. Ironically, the last time Kareem failed to score in double digits was the first game of the 1977 season, also on the MECCA floor.
- Milwaukee sets a new club standard with a .775% mark from the charity stripe.
- Jack Sikma becomes the tallest man in NBA history to win the NBA free throw title by shooting 92% from the line.
- The Bucks string of 52 consecutive months of .500% or better basketball ends after a 6-9 record.
- Paul Pressey becomes the club's all-time leader in assists, topping Brian Winters on March 16, 1988.
- Junior Bridgeman was honored on January 17, 1988, by having his uniform (#2) retired.
- In the final season at the Arena, the Bucks draw 452,057 fans to the Milwaukee Arena, including 38 of 41 sellouts.
- Milwaukee qualified for the playoffs for the ninth consecutive season and 16th time in 20 years.

- Through November 26, only two other teams had worse records than the Bucks (3-9). From November 27 on, only San Antonio (49-20) was better than Milwaukee's 49-21 finish.
- The Bucks 116-111 win over Denver on 1/31 was the 600th of George Karl's coaching career. He is only the 17th coach in NBA history to reach the milestone, and the sixth fastest coach to reach the 600 victory mark (1,005 games).
- On February 13, Glenn Robinson became the fifth player in Bucks history to score 10,000 points. He became the first member of his draft class or the preceding draft class to top the 10,000 point barrier.
- Ray Allen (202), Lindsey Hunter (152) and Tim Thomas (107) were the only trio of teammates in the NBA to make at least 100 three-pointers during the season. Allen's 202 were second most in the NBA, and broke his own franchise record for treys in one season (172). Allen and Thomas share the franchise record for three-balls in a single game (8). Thomas hit 8-of-10 threes at Portland (1/5) setting an NBA record with eight three-pointers in a half.

HIGHLIGHTS:

- The Bucks finished one game shy of a berth in the NBA playoffs, with a 41-41 record. Despite the downturn, the Bucks did finish at .500 or better for the fourth consecutive season.
- A Bucks team that stayed relatively injury free for the last two seasons had no such luck this season. Among the team's top five scorers (Allen, Robinson, Cassell, Thomas, Redd), a total of 56 games were missed this season. That quintent appeared together in only 36 games this season (Bucks were 21-15)...when one of the five missed the game, Milwaukee was a respectable 18-18, but when two or more were absent, the Bucks were 2-8. As a result of injuries and matchups, the Bucks fielded 17 different starting lineups this season.
- The Bucks set a franchise record with 16 treys in a 115-76 win over Houston on 2/20. Milwaukee's 593 treys broke the all-time franchise record of 562, set last season.
- Despite missing 13 games to injury, halting his consecutive games played streak at 400 (12/21 at HOU), Ray Allen finished first in the league in three-pointers made (229) and second in attempts (528). He broke his own franchise record for 3-pointers made in a season (202), and is now 11th in NBA history in all-time three-point accuracy, with 40.8 percent success rate (928-2,276). Allen hit a franchise record 10 treys (on 14 attempts) vs. Charlotte on 4/14.
- The Bucks 115-76 win over the Houston Rockets on 2/20 seemed like just another game...until the fourth quarter when Michael Redd scored 26 of his career-high 29 points. Redd hit eight treys in the fourth quarter to establish an NBA record for threes in a single period (and tied the NBA record for threes in a half).
- On the final day of the 2001-02 season, Glenn Robinson passed the 12,000 point mark for his career. On 3/6 vs. LA Clippers, Robinson passed Sidney Moncrief (11,594) on Bucks all-time scoring list to trail only Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (14,211) on the Bucks all-time list.
- More people saw the Bucks play at home than ever before. The Bucks total home attendance (745,305) was the highest in team history. The average crowd of 18,178 exceeds the best previous average of 17,097, set in 1988-89. The 25 sellouts were the most during the Bradley Center era, breaking the previous record of 20 in 1988-89.

HIGHLIGHTS:

- The Bucks advanced to the postseason for the fourth time in five seasons under head coach George Karl, and for the 23rd time in their 35-year history.
- Once again, the Bucks were one of the league's most prolific three-point shooting teams, finishing fourth in makes (7.13) and fifth in attempts (18.61), while leading the league in three-point percentage (.383). The Bucks tied a franchise record with 16 treys in a 140-133 win at Cleveland on December 9. Milwaukee's 585 treys fell just short of the all-time franchise record of 593 (set during the 2001-02 season).
- Bucks sixth man Michael Redd emerged this season among the top three-point shooters in NBA history. On March 30, he hit his 250th career three pointer to qualify as the fourth most accurate three-point shooter in NBA history. Redd was second in the NBA in three-point percentage (.438), third in three-pointers made, and led the Bucks in accuracy for the second consecutive season. There were only seven games in the 2002-03 campaign in which Redd failed to deliver at least one three-point FG.
- Sam Cassell notched his first career triple-double in his 603rd regular season NBA game at Cleveland on December 9. Cassell tallied a season-high 39 points, 10 rebounds and 10 assists for the Bucks first triple-double since Ray Allen's 20 points, 10 rebounds and 11 assists at Boston on 2/7/01. Cassell doubled his career triple-double total on January 22 with a 14-point, 11 rebound and season-high 16-assist performance at Boston. Cassell was one of six players in the league to tally multiple triple-doubles during the regular season.
- The Bucks were one of nine teams to increase their points-per-game production this season. Milwaukee raised its points-per-game average from 97.5 points in 2001-02 to 99.5.
- Milwaukee committed a franchise low 1,044 turnovers, bettering their previous low of 1,123 established in the 1999-00 season. The 12.7 turnovers per game were second in the NBA. In the Bucks 120-93 win over Atlanta, Milwaukee committed a franchise-low four turnovers, one shy of tying the NBA record for fewest turnovers in a game.

HIGHLIGHTS:

- The Bucks finished with a .500 or better record for the sixth consecutive season. It's their 24th .500 or better season in their 36-year history and the team advances to the postseason for the fifth time in the last six seasons.
- In his first season as an NBA Head Coach, Terry Porter leads the Bucks to a 41-41 mark. He finished tied for third in Coach of the Year voting and was also a nominee for the J. Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award.
- Milwaukee led the Eastern Conference in scoring, averaging 98.0 points per game, good for 4th in the NBA. The Bucks committed the fewest turnovers per game (13.54) in the Eastern Conference and were third in the NBA in that category.
- The Bucks go 33-21 against Eastern Conference opponents.
- Michael Redd, the runner-up for sixth man of the year in 2002-03, started in every game for the Bucks, averaging a team-high 21.7 points (10th in the NBA). Redd was voted by the coaches of the Eastern Conference to appear in his first All-Star Game where he scored 13 points on 5-12 shooting with three rebounds and three steals in 15 minutes.
- In January, Redd earned the Player of the Month award for the Eastern Conference after twice scoring a career-high 40 points.
- At the end of the season, several Bucks were nominated for awards. Redd was named to the NBA All-Third Team and finished fifth in voting for Most Improved Player. T.J. Ford was named to the All-Rookie Second Team. Desmond Mason finished sixth in Sixth Man of the Year voting.
- T.J. Ford suffered a spinal cord bruise in a February 24 game against Minnesota and missed the remainder of the season.
- Milwaukee shot 0-6 from three-point range at Phoenix in their 123-111 loss on March 20. It was the first time that the Bucks failed to make a three-point basket since February 21, 2002, ironically versus Phoenix in a 92-81 loss at the Bradley Center. It broke a streak of 191 straight games with a three-pointer made for the Bucks.

HIGHLIGHTS:

- The Bucks finished with a sub .500 winning percentage for the first time since the 1998-99 season (30-52), but they did have their eighth consecutive winning season at home (23-18).
- Michael Redd maintained a career-high scoring average of 23.0 points per game (11th in the NBA).
- Redd also became just the second player in team history to lead the Bucks in scoring 50 or more times in one season (he did it 50 times) ... Kareem Abdul-Jabbar was the other.
- Redd scored his 5,000th career point on March 4 and connected on his 500th career three-pointer on April 13.
- 15 separate players missed games due to injury, illness or suspension. T.J. Ford missed the entire season while recovering from neck surgery and Redd saw a string of 212 consecutive games played snapped due to a sprained left index finger ... In all, 247 games were missed.
- The Bucks and Golden State Warriors tied an NBA-low for combined turnovers in a game with 11 (Milwaukee had 6 and Golden State had 5) on March 30.
- The Bucks held Seattle to 73 points on 29.4 percent shooting on February 27. The 73 points were tied for 10th for an opponent-low in Bucks history (only 13 times in their history has a team been held to 73 points or less).
- The Bucks scored 78 first-half points on February 8 against Boston, including 42 second-quarter points, on their way to a 121-97 win ... The 78 points were the most by the Bucks in a single half since the team scored the same amount on March 24, 1987 against New York.

HIGHLIGHTS:

- The Bucks finished the season 40-42 and advanced to the NBA playoffs for the 25th time in their 38-year history and for the 6th time in the last 8 seasons.
- Milwaukee improved 10 games from their 30-52 record in 2004-05.
- In advancing to the playoffs, the Bucks became the first team in NBA history to make the playoffs with four new starters from the previous season.
- Michael Redd led the Bucks in scoring 63 times this season. He finished the season with 2,028 points, becoming just the second player in franchise history to break the 2,000-point mark in a single season.
- Redd also maintained a 25.4 scoring average (9th in the NBA), not just a career-high, but also the highest for a Buck since Marques Johnson averaged 25.6 points during the 1978-79 season.
- The Bucks set an NBA record this season by winning their first 13 games decided by 6 points or less (they were also 9-0 in games decided by 3 points or less). They became the first team in the shot clock era (since 1954-55) to win their first 12 games decided by 6 points or less (12-0) when they beat Minnesota 95-92 on January 10, topping the previous record of 11 set by both the 1967-68 St. Louis Hawks and the 1959-60 Boston Celtics.
- Milwaukee finished the season 4th in the league in 3FG% (.380), the second-best season mark in team history (behind only the 2002-03 squad's 38.3 percent). Charlie Bell finished the year 11th in the NBA in 3FG% (.423) and teammate Bobby Simmons finished T-12th (.420).
- Andrew Bogut had a fine rookie season, earning a spot on the All-Rookie First Team after averaging 9.4 points, 7.0 rebounds and 2.3 assists in 28.6 minutes per game. He was named the Eastern Conference's Rookie of the Month for January and appeared in the T-Mobile Rookie Challenge Game at All-Star Weekend (along with teammate T.J. Ford).
- Milwaukee set a new NBA record for fewest turnovers in a game on April 1 against Indiana. Their 2 miscues beat out the old mark of 3 (set by 7 teams). Milwaukee's previous franchise record for fewest turnovers in a game was 4.
- The Bucks hit a franchise-record 18 three-pointers in their 132-110 rout of the Phoenix Suns at the Bradley Center on March 28. The 18 treys topped the previous franchise mark of 16. They also set a new NBA record after hitting 11 of those 18 triples in the 3rd quarter.

PLAYOFF RECORD:

- Lost to Detroit, First Round, 1-4

HONORS:

- Andrew Bogut - NBA All-Rookie First Team; T-Mobile Rookie/Sophomore Challenge at All-Star Weekend
- T.J. Ford - T-Mobile Rookie/Sophomore Challenge at All-Star Weekend

#23

Jason Hart finished his Bucks career with a perfect 1.000 FG% -- and he never even made a basket! After missing the first 81 games of the 2000-01 season with back spasms, Hart was activated for Milwaukee's final regular season contest on April 17 at Miami. He logged 10 minutes and took just one shot. However, his fastbreak lay-up was goaltended by Miami's Eddie Jones and Hart was awarded two points despite never making a shot. The Bucks requested waivers on Hart just before the 2001-02 season, thus ending his career with Milwaukee.

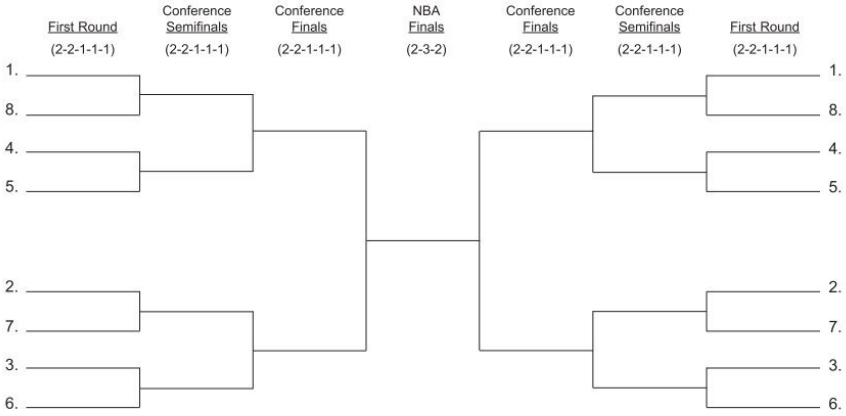
40/40-FACTS #30

The 2007-08 NBA season tips-off on October 30 and the Bucks will start their season a day later on October 31. Back in 1968, the Bucks opened their inaugural season on October 16. They had 6 games that month. The earliest the Bucks have ever started their season was in 1980 when they played the first of 11 October games on the 10th of the month.

The Bucks routinely had several regular season games in October up until the 1981-82 season. After their 11-game October in 1980, the Bucks had only two October games the following year, one in 1983, three in 1984, four in 1985, one in 1986 and then they entered a stretch from 1987-1997 where they started each season in November.

The last time the Bucks had an October start date was during the 2003-04 season (they had two games in October that year).

2007-08 NBA PLAYOFF STRUCTURE



How teams are seeded:

Each conference sends eight teams to the NBA playoffs. The first four seeds in each conference are awarded to the three division winners and the team with the next-best regular season record. These four teams are seeded in order of regular season records. The four remaining spots are awarded according to record to the remaining four best non-division-winning teams.

Home court advantage for each series is awarded to the team with the best regular-season record. All rounds are best-of-seven series. Each series will follow a 2-2-1-1-1 home/road format except for the NBA Finals, which will follow a 2-3-2 home/road format.

TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURES

The NBA will look at the following factors (in order) if two teams tie for a playoff spot ...

1. Head-to-head results
2. If #1 is a tie: Winning percentage within the division (but only if tied teams are from the same division)
3. If #2 is a tie or does not apply: Winning percentage within the conference
4. If #3 is a tie: Winning percentage against playoff teams in own conference
5. If #4 is a tie: Winning percentage against playoff teams in opposite conference
6. If #5 is a tie: Point differential between offense and defense

The NBA will look at the following factors (in order) if multiple teams tie for a playoff spot ...

1. Winning percentage among all teams tied
2. If #1 is a tie: Winning percentage within the division (but only if tied teams are from the same division)
3. If #2 is a tie or does not apply: Winning percentage within the conference
4. If #3 is a tie: Winning percentage against playoff teams in own conference
5. If #4 is a tie: Point differential between offense and defense

Also ...

1. Any ties involving the championship of a division are resolved first.
2. If a multiple-team tie is reduced to a two-team tie at any point using the above criteria, the two-team tie will be resolved in accordance with the existing two-team tie procedure.
3. In 1991, the NBA Board of Governors instituted a change involoving ties between teams in different conferences, such as what occurred in 1990 between Detroit and Portland. The first tiebreaker will still be head-to-head results, but the second tie-breaker will be the record of the Eastern Conference club against all West teams versus the record of the Western Conference club against all East teams.

Magic Number

The magic number is used to determine how close a front-running team is to securing a playoff spot. It is the total of additional wins by the front-running team, plus additional losses by the rival team, after which it is mathematically impossible for the rival team to secure a playoff spot.

For example, if Team A is leading Team B by two games with seven games remaining in the season, the magic number would be six. This is true because:

1. Six wins by Team A, regardless of how Team B performs, will secure a playoff spot for Team A.
2. Six losses by Team B, regardless of how Team A performs, will secure a playoff spot for Team A.
3. Any combination wins by Team A and losses by Team B that totals six will result in a playoff spot for Team A.

To calculate the magic number, use the following formula:

Magic Number = G + 1 - Wa - Lb

G = total games in the season
Wa = total wins by front-running team
Lb = total losses by rival team

40/40-FACTS #31

With Charlotte being such a new NBA franchise, the Bucks and Bobcats have only had 11 all-time regular season match-ups.

Can you guess the team with whom the Bucks have played more games against than any other NBA club? The correct answer is also the obvious one - the I-94 rival Chicago Bulls. Entering the 2007-08 season, the Bucks and Bulls have played each other exactly 200 times (the Bulls hold a slight 102-98 edge.) The two clubs have played each other at least four times in every season.

40/40-FACTS #32

Since Charlotte is the NBA's newest franchise, that got us to thinking ... Did you know that no NBA expansion team has won a championship faster than the Bucks? They won their only NBA title in 1971, just their third season in existence!

40/40-FACTS #36

The Bucks have been airing broadcasts on WTMJ radio 620 AM since their inception in 1968. Ted Davis is currently in his 11th season as the radio voice of the Bucks. He's one of only a handful of broadcasters who have held the job:

Eddie Doucette	1968-1979
Jim Irwin	1979-1994
Howard David	1994-1997
Ted Davis	1997-Present

Prior to taking the full-time role in 1979, Jim Irwin would assist on radio broadcasts when Eddie Doucette was doing TV games.

In addition to the play-by-play voices listed above, former Buck and current TV analyst Jon McGlocklin added color commentary on WTMJ radio from 1976-97. Dennis Krause has provided color commentary for all Bucks home games since the 1997-98 season.

BACK-TO-BACK BUCKS: 2007 SOFTBALL MEDIA LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

Congratulations to the Milwaukee Bucks Media League softball team who repeated as league champs this summer.

Entering the season with high hopes after winning it all in 2006, the Bucks ran off 12 consecutive wins before dropping their only regular season contest to Milwaukee Radio Group. They would finish the regular season at 13-1.

A rain-soaked August pushed the playoffs into September where the first place Bucks held the coveted top seed.

Looking to avenge their only loss of the season, the Bucks jumped out to an early 5-0 lead on Milwaukee Radio Group in the semifinals and held on 6-3 for the win. Later that night, they took on an impressive Media Giants club in the championship game. The Bucks found themselves down 6-2 heading into the 5th, but rallied to score five in the frame. A much-needed insurance run came in the 6th and the Bucks held on to win 8-7.

The Bucks team featured members of the administrative, sales, tickets, marketing, video and public relations staffs.

On June 9, 2007, the Milwaukee Bucks held their first-ever Media Appreciation Basketball Game at the Bradley Center. Over 30 members of the local media participated as their families watched on. After three fiercely compeititve games, the Green Team took home the inaugural title. They beat the Red Team 30-13 and the White Team 29-12. The games were complete with jumbotron video, in-arena music, commentary, refs and even box scores. Following the games and team pictures, the athletes reunited with their families for a complimentary lunch and awards ceremony in the BC's Courtside Club. Bucks.com's Truman Reed was in attendance and wrote the following piece for Bucks.com:

The 2007 National Basketball Association Draft is still more than two weeks away, but Milwaukee Bucks General Manager Larry Harris put his talent-sleuthing skills to the test on the morning of June 9 and was rewarded with a championship performance.

The three-game format took its toll on most of the participants. Matching his drafting expertise against Head Coach Larry Krystkowiak and Director of Player Personnel Dave Babcock, Harris selected nine players for his Green team, which swept Krystkowiak's Red team and Babcock's White squad in dominant fashion to win the first Milwaukee Bucks Media Basketball Tournament at the Bradley Center.

Bill Peterson, just hired by the Bucks as an assistant coach last week, piloted Harris' "Mean Green" to victories of 30-13 over the Red team, coached by another new hire, assistant coach Tony Brown, and 29-12 over the White team, guided by assistant coach Brian James, before a duly impressed audience of family members and friends.

The intensity built early when Drew Olson of ESPN Radio and OnMilwaukee.com sustained a knee injury during the "Pre-Draft Camp." Bucks trainer Andre Daniel and his staff were on hand to administer medical attention, but Olson was relegated to crutches and ruled out for the day.

A special on-court presentation was made by Steve Haywood of ESPN Radio 1510/1290 to Cheri Hanson for her eight years of dedicated service as the Bucks' Director of Public Relations. The Bucks announced last week that Hanson is leaving Milwaukee to become Vice President of Communications with the Portland Trail Blazers.

Charlie Bell makes one of many calls, this time with Gery Woelfel of The Journal Times at his side. Hostilities developed during the first game of the day. At the coaches' demand, playoff-style defense sent a number of players tumbling head-over-heels as they tried to attack the basket. But Bucks guard Charlie Bell, who donned a zebra shirt to join Bucks Director of Sales Jim Grayson and Senior Account Representative Mike Dammen as a game official, intervened and assessed both a flagrant foul and a technical foul to prevent a full-scale melee from breaking out.

The battle wasn't decided until the final seconds as the Reds, behind a game-high eight points from FSN Wisconsin's John Walsh, held off the Whites, 14-13. Colin Fly of the Associated Press contributed four points and Gery Woelfel of the Racine Journal Times two to the winning cause. Time Warner Sports' Tom Kurtz pumped in four points and WTMJ Radio 620's Kyle Dlabay three for the White team.

Game two of the round-robin saw the Green team establish an early lead thanks to its share-the-wealth passing and the low-post scoring of FSN Wisconsin's Bob Brainerd and WISN TV 12's Andy Kendeigh. The Green showed little or no drop-off after Coach Peterson's 5-minute substitutions and pulled away for a 17-point victory.

Kendeigh sank all five of his field-goal attempts and posted game highs of 10 points, eight rebounds and three steals. Jeff Mailett of the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel tossed in six points for the winners. Mickie Leach of WITI Fox 6 had four points and colleague Tim Van Vooren five rebounds to lead the Red team.

The Green Team captured the title with a 29-12 win over the White Team in Game 3. In the final game of the round-robin, the Greens took command early against the Whites, pitching a 6-0 first-quarter shutout, and yielded no more than four points in a quarter en route to a 29-12 championship-clinching victory. Maillet made six of his eight field-goal attempts, including a 3-pointer, and finished with a game-best 13 points for the champs.

Jen Lada of WITI TV Fox 6, the tourney's lone female participant, not only scored two points, but ripped down a game-high eight rebounds and was presented with the tourney's One Shining Moment Award for her running bank shot from the left side. Josh Adams of FSN Wisconsin tallied six points for the White team.

The members of the Green title team were Brainerd, Kendeigh, Maillet, Lada, Garry D. Howard of the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel, Adam Mertz of the Capital Times, Mitch Nelles and C.J. Knee of ESPN Radio 1510/1290 and Mark Hutchinson of Full Court Press.

Following the action, the tourney participants gathered at midcourt for a photo shoot, then were ushered – or carried – to the Courtside Club for lunch and an awards ceremony.
